Award types

MileSAAver awards

If your plans are flexible, MileSAAver awards are available for as low as 7,500 miles each way plus any applicable taxes and carrier-imposed fees. MileSAAver awards have no blackout dates, but may have limited availability.

And for a few select regions, MileSAAver Off Peak awards are offered, saving you even more miles when traveling. For further information on valid dates for MileSAAver Off Peak, please refer to the "Details on award travel" section below.

AAnytime awards

With no blackout dates, you can use AAnytime awards for any seat on an American Airlines or American Eagle® flight for as low as 20,000 miles each way, plus any applicable taxes and carrier-imposed fees.

AAnytime award levels vary by date and region. There are select dates that require a higher number of miles (in addition to Level 1 and 2 awards). When you search for awards while booking, you'll see the applicable award level.

Web Special awards

Web Special awards are available exclusively on aa.com and may be offered on select flights and dates for fewer miles than either the MileSAAver or AAnytime award level. Mileage levels vary by date and flight. When available, you'll see the applicable award level while booking your trip. Keep in mind, tickets that include a Web Special award don't allow changes, but you can cancel and reinstate your miles at no charge.

- Each award is subject to taxes and carrier-imposed fees starting from $5.60 per person, per award. These taxes and fees vary by itinerary and are based on trip origin and destination. If these charges are paid with a credit or debit card, the name on the card must match the name on the AAdvantage account from which miles are being deducted.
- For flights with two classes of service, the Economy and Business / First awards apply.
- For each one-way award redeemed for travel within the United States and Canada, a maximum of three segments are permitted. For all other destinations (including Puerto Rico and U.S. Virgin Islands), a maximum of four segments are permitted.
